Turks Bolt Peace Parley In A "Huff"

LAUSANNE, January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Turkish delegation to the peace conference bolted the meeting here today, protesting against the alleged intention of the establishment of an Armenian national home.

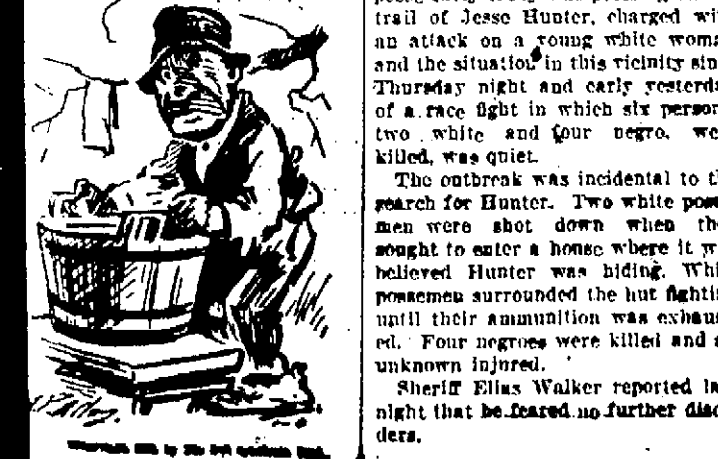

According to the Turkish account of the incident which produced a sensation in conference circles, Chairman Montagu, of the sub-commission on minorities, read a statement favoring the Armenian home and was followed by Sir Horace Rumbold, of England, who spoke in advocacy of establishing the home in Cilicia. Sir Horace also wanted the Turks to give an independent district to the Assyrians in the region south of Lake Van and west of Lake Urmia. Hiza Nur Bey, the Turkish spokesman, declared he understood the alleged interest in the Armenians and others, because the allies had incited them to revolt and therefore felt morally bound to help them.

Hiza Nur Bey said he must consider today's allied declarations as not having been made and that it was his duty to leave the meeting. He walked out amid the murmurs of the other delegates.

Conference circles were seething with excitement after the incident and wondering whether it forecast further affairs of the sort calculated to disturb if not disrupt the entire conference. It was pointed to as an event, indicating that affairs were reaching a crisis.

Accounts differ as to what actually happened at today's meeting. The allied spokesmen declared they were not insisting on the Armenian home. On the contrary they said there was no question of inserting the Armenian home arrangement in the peace treaty. They had merely asked that Turkey, for humanitarian reasons, give her earnest attention to the question of allocating some corner of Turkey to the Armenians where they might enjoy some degree of local autonomy under the sovereignty of Turkey and be given certain guarantees concerning the privileges of handling their national language and customs.

U. S. TO RECALL TROOPS OFF RHINE IF FRANCE ADVANCES

WASHINGTON, January 6.—(By the United Press)—American troops will be ordered withdrawn from Germany the moment France begins a military occupation of the Ruhr valley, a high government official said today. This action will be taken as a protest against the threatened French move which this government always has strongly disapproved and which it is believed menaces the peace of Europe. Withdrawal of American troops close on the heels of the British refusal to support the French plan would leave France standing virtually alone in her efforts to force Germany to pay reparations, which the British and American governments regard as impossible.

Meanwhile this government still is waiting for a reply from France as to whether she will accept the American plan for intervention in Europe. If she should accept it will have to be with the understanding that she would postpone her threatened military occupation of the Ruhr until it had been determined whether this government's plan calling for revision of reparations by a commission of experts a private loan to Germany and easier allied debts would be unsuccessful in its efforts to head off forcible seizure of the Ruhr this government in proposing its plan is believed to have outlined informally to Europe the fundamental principles which should underlie and economic rehabilitation of Europe. According to the first revision of the reparations to a point that Germany can pay.

Second—Payment of reparations in cash to France, Belgium and England at an early date through a loan by international bankers, provided the present reparations figures can be reduced.

Third—Agreement by France to reduce her army.

Fourth—Agreement by the United States to postpone demand for payment of both principal and interest on the allied debt for a period of about ten years.

FRANCE MARKING TIME
PARIS, January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—France is marking time in enlarging penalties against Germany, but unofficial opinion is that Poincare must compel submissions that will satisfy the French people.

Germany has announced her inability to meet $500,000,000 gold marks reparations payment due January 15.

French newspapers generally reflect satisfaction that France is free to move against Germany unhampered by Great Britain.

Germany To Be Given Hearing
PARIS, January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany will be given a hearing by the reparations commission before any action is taken on the French proposal to have her declared in default on coal deliveries, the commission decided today.

When the question came before the commission it approved the German request for a hearing.

Berlin was immediately notified and asked to send experts so they can be heard by the commission next Monday.

Sir John Bradbury, the British member, attended the session. There was discussion on the merits of the case. The Germans are entitled under the treaty of Versailles to present their arguments and Louis Barthou, of France, the proponent of the default measure, offered no objection to granting the hearing.

The German contention, it is known, will be based on Germany's declared inability to deliver more than eighty per cent of the amount of coal provided for in the commission's program.

DONAHUE COMPLETES SLATE OF CABINET

COLUMBUS, O., January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor-elect Donahue today completed the formation of his cabinet by the appointment of Cyrus H. Locher, Cleveland attorney, and former Cuyahoga county prosecutor, as temporary director of commerce. The appointment is temporary, it was said because Mr. Donahue expects to ask the legislature to abolish the position.

The governor-elect also announced the appointment to positions on his military staff of Lieutenant Colonel W. O. Lathrop, of Cincinnati; Major Marcus R. Limb, mayor of Wooster; and Lieutenant W. H. Kyle, of Cleveland. The adjutant general and assistant are ex-officio members of the staff. One member remains to be appointed.

In announcing Mr. Locher's appointment, Mr. Donahue said that he had offered the position as head of the department of commerce to a half dozen attorneys, including Mr. Locher, M. A. Daugherty, of Lancaster, former Assistant Attorney General, Charles Follette, of Cleveland, and George C. Maxwell, of Cleveland, former secretary of the state utilities commission and all had declined, saying that the position had few duties and might well be abolished.

Colonel Lathrop, who becomes a member of the military staff, holds the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Ohio National Guard and is president of the M. A. Hunt Company, a Cincinnati manufacturing concern.

Major Limb has been a member of the National Guard since 1891, and served overseas in the world war. Lieutenant Kyle, a West Point graduate, is associated with the National Tack Company, of Cleveland.

Mr. Donahue's cabinet will be composed of the following men:
Director of Agriculture—Charles F. Truax, Sycamore.
Director of Health—Dr. John E. Menger, Columbus, formerly of Greenville.

Director of Finance—William E. Baker, Columbus, formerly of Fremont.
Director of Welfare—John E. Harper, Columbus, formerly of Coalton.
Director of Industrial Relations—Herman Witter, Canton.

Director of Commerce—Cyrus H. Locher, Cleveland.
Director of Education—Vernon M. Riegel, Democrat, held over under previous appointment—constitutional office.

Director of Highway—Leon C. Herlick, Republican, held over under previous appointment; appointment not yet expired.

Bill Aimed At Bootleggers
WASHINGTON, January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—A bill designed to help break up bootlegging by making the buyer of outlaw liquor equally guilty with the seller, was introduced today by Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, who recently charged in the house that public officials do not all practice what they preach in regard to prohibition.

The measure further provides that any person accepting a drink free would be in the same category as a person buying or selling it.

Transplant Sheep's Kidney To A Human Body

NEW YORK, January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—An unusual operation—the transplanting of a sheep's kidney to a human body—was performed December 30 at Bellevue Hospital in an effort to save the life of Mrs. Adele Robertson, a poison victim, it became known today when the report of an autopsy, performed on Mrs. Robertson, was made public. She died Thursday when complications, including pneumonia, but not attributed to the operation, set in.

Dr. Harold Neuhoff, who performed the operation, declined to discuss it because of ethical reasons, but said he intended writing an article about it. Medical observers said the operation was considered a success, and that one of Mrs. Robertson's kidneys, which previously had failed to function, began to do so again, although only slightly. The transplanted kidney also seemed to work, it was reported.

French Invasion Of The Ruhr Would Be Signal For War Which U. S. Could Not Evade

CHICAGO, January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—French invasion of the Ruhr district in Germany would be a signal for war which the United States could not evade, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, said in an address here last night. The United States, he said, should use moral influence, to halt threatened invasion.

"The United States," Mr. Lowden said, "sat idly by and watched, in pursuance of its policy of isolation, all Europe steadily drifting toward conflict. Now war is imminent. If the French take over the German industrial cities it is a certainty. American troops are on the Rhine. In case of war they would be between the advancing armies of France and Germany and would be forced into war."

"We have been idle too long. I believe our influence is great enough to impress upon France her error, if our statements try."

Bodies Of Victims Are Broken By A Modern Torturing Machine

BASTROP, LA., January 6.—(By the United Press)—Cooly and scientifically Walt Daniel and Thomas S. Richards were crushed to death by hooded terrorists, pathologists who examined the broken, mutilated bodies, testified today in the open hearing here.

With barbarous ingenuity and callous indifference, hands, head and feet were wrenched from battered bodies, Doctors Charles W. Duval and John Lathrop testified.

Scientific means were used to break each arm in three places and then the chest cavities of the victims were smashed in by pressure applied from front and back, the witness declared. The most brutal outrages in the pages of history were outdone that night behind the veil of dense foliage in a sheltered spot in the wooded section near Mer Rouge, after Daniel's father had been brutally beaten and two others severely flogged by the hooded horrors.

The Spanish inquisition, Turkish outrages and tortures of Apaches were far less inhuman than the tragedy of that black night as described in Louisiana's public hearing.

Cloaked in the unemotional language of the men of science also was described a crude operation of revivifying butchery which had been performed on Daniel before life was viciously crushed out.

It was designed for inflicting punishment in the pathologist's report, the body things that were once the living bodies were wired to iron wheels and cast into Lake LaFourche.

The simple report as written by the physicians outdoes the imaginative accounts that have been published that the bodies passed through the grinding cogs of an oil derrick or huge rolls of a pulp mill.

The two reports are practically identical except that the nameless barbarity performed on Daniel was not committed in the case of Richards.

Kentuckian Slain As Result Of Illicit Romance Of Wife

HENDERSON, KY., January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Gus Noffsinger, 34, general manager of the Southland Coal Company, victim of Henderson's mysterious "hammer murder" was slain as the result of an illicit romance between his widow and one of his close friends, officials said today following the arrest last night of Mrs. Noffsinger, 29, and Ollie Gibbons, 31, the friend.

An alleged voluntary confession by Mrs. Noffsinger was directly responsible for definite action last night, officials declared. The coal man's widow was quoted as having named Gibbons as the slayer of her husband, and also as having said she knew in advance the killing was to take place.

The couple planned, according to the woman's statement as recounted by investigators to kill Noffsinger, obtain his insurance and go away together and be married.

Gibbons declared emphatically that he was connected with the slaying of the coal man or that he was a party to a conspiracy.

Gibbons, a miner, long had been a friend of the murdered man, and was a member of the funeral party. He had been a boarder at the Noffsinger home, leaving less than a month ago.

Noffsinger last was seen alive just before midnight last Saturday after a conference with Edward Potter, of Nashville, Tenn., president of the Southland Coal Company. His body was found early Sunday morning. The slayer used a miner's hammer.

Things That Should Be Remedied

Here are a few things that should be remedied before the next boxing show is held in the Winter Garden. There should be no delay on account of ring not being in shape. The boxers should step into the ring after one fight is over. There were exasperating delays last night.

There should be at least one and possibly two more entrances. There should be absolutely no smoking. It is not permitted at any boxing show in the country. There should be good natured razzing, but not the kind that hurts the name. There should be one referee for all bouts.

By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT

NEA Service Staff Writer
YONKERS, N. Y.—Justice of the Peace Carrie R. Thomas will go before the state legislature shortly to ask that her job be abolished.

The woman, who was the first in the state to be elected to such an office and whose townspeople gave her the largest vote of any candidate is willing to forego political distinction if, by so doing, she can better
the cause of the common people.

Justice Thomas would have courts of conciliation supersede the office to which she was elected.

"The office of a justice used to be known as the poor man's court," she says, "but I soon discovered that this was not so. Hundreds of persons with small just claims were obliged to pass them up because they could not pay the fees.

"Under my plan courts would be established where litigants would be given legal advice without charge.
Then, if they could not settle their differences, they could carry them into the higher courts.

In Politics for Good She'll Do

"These courts of conciliation would be open courts for court paraphermalia is very impressive to certain types of mind. On the bench would be one, two or three judges who would serve without pay. These judges would be older lawyers or retired merchants and they would render decisions immediately.

"Scarcely all small claims are just ones but the long waits imposed by legal processes frequently work severe hardships on the poor."

Although she has three years of her term yet to serve Justice Thomas is willing to have the office done away with at once so that the new court may be established.

She describes her attitude as characteristic of the woman in politics.

"Women do not go into politics for the glory they will get," she says,
"but for the good they can accomplish."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Do you know anything about "Portsmouth's Booster Economy Club"? A man was around selling membership cards for this club at $1.00 per year, which entitled the owner to share in the benefits and privileges of them, such as rolls and record exchange. The office of the club was located in a prominent downtown building, and I bought a card, but I can't find the office nor the man who sold me the card, or anything about it. Dolly, I think I've been stung, don't you? Wonder how many others got stung along with me? What shall I do about it?

BOYHEAD.

There is nothing you can do about it, except consider yourself out one perfectly good dollar, and profit by your experience in the future. Of course, if you ever meet up with the man you can make him give your dollar back, or take it out of his hide.

Dear Dolly—Would you please inform me what the requirement for a school teacher is in Kentucky? How much schooling must they have and how old do they have to be?

X. Y. Z.

I am told that one has to be 18 years of age, or over, and have completed the eighth grade in school. You can go to Greenup, Ky., and take the examination and if you pass you will be granted a certificate to teach in the lower grades.

Dear Dolly—Wise—I have a baby girl and her father is to pay her $3.00 per week and he doesn't keep it up. Do you think that I can make him pay this and who must I see about it? Dolly, I am not married to her father. Do you think I can make him pay it?

If the court ordered the father of the child to pay $3.00 per week for caring for the child, he will have to keep on paying it until released from the obligation. Consult which ever court ordered him to pay the amount and he will have to come across regularly.

SOCIAL NEWS

A very pretty wedding, and one that will come as a delightful surprise to their many friends, was solemnized at high noon today in the First Christian Church, Third and Gay streets, when Miss Lena M. Yates became the bride of Mr. Charles Prier Hopkins of Ironton.

The impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Gerald Culbertson, pastor of the church, in the presence of the immediate families of the young couple and a few close friends. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Damon, Miss Yates and Mrs. Damon being girlhood friends.

The bride, who is a striking blonde, was charming in a smart tailored suit of dark blue Perle tulle, with accessories of silver. She wore a becoming hat of silver cloth and her bridal bouquet was a corsage of sweetheart roses. Mrs. Damon wore an attractive gown of black velvet with accessories of gold.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Bess True sang very sweetly, "I Love You Truly," and while the guests were assembling Miss Marjorie Gerlach played appropriate airs on the organ. As the bride party entered the church, the organ pealed forth Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Immediately after the ceremony, a brief reception was held at the church, after which Mr. Hopkins and his bride left on the afternoon C. & O. train for Cincinnati, where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will take up their residence in the Bayview Apartments, Seventh and Lincoln streets.

Mrs. Hopkins is the beautiful daughter of Mrs. Warren DeVore of Seventh and Lincoln streets, and has

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

Jack Daw trudged for many miles through great banks of snow. He was on his way to the highest and highest coasting hill in the world. Finally he came to the foot of this hill and, turning to his dog, Flip, he said, "You pull the sled up, old fellow, and we will have a wonderful coast."

Flip always seemed to know what his little master was saying. He barked and grabbed hold of the sled rope and started climbing. Jack followed on foot. After a long, hard trip, the top of the hill was reached. Jack looked around him and then said, "Now we will slide back down."

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

DUSTY COAT, the fairy sandman, and Nancy and Nick had sprinkled magic powder on all the sleeping creatures in Whispering Forest and Bright Meadow, and sent them all to Dreamland.

After that the three little travelers went to Dreamland themselves. As they entered the little arched gateway with climbing roses all over it, a curious sight met their eyes. There was Philip Frog in satin and lace parading around arm in arm with Mike Mole in velvet and lace, the two of them grown to such a size that they could have swallowed the Twins, if they had so wished, in one gobbie.

Philip was laughing. "Say, Mike, I've turned poet," he said. "I've been writing verses."

"You don't say so," replied Mike with admiration. "Would you mind letting me hear a jingle or two?"

"Not in the least," said Philip obligingly. "How's this?"

"Did you ever hear a hoot-owl hoot? He's got a voice like a rubber-hoot. He sings no better than old gumshoe."

Now and then little up and down slopes would break the straight downward path and these kept Flip and Jack bolting around. "We'll have to hang on mighty tight," shouted Jack, "or we'll go flop in a snowbank." Flip whined a bit and tucked his head into Jack's arm.

Suddenly, just ahead, Jack saw a huge bank of snow. It was right in the path of the flying sled. Jack realized that he couldn't possibly avoid crashing into this mountain of white, so he pulled Flip closer to him and held his own head down low. Then the big crash came. (Continued.)

Letters From Our Readers

Editor Times:
Having seen an article in your paper a few days ago from the pen of Breare Holcomb suggesting a game preserve for Greenup and Lewis counties that is a proposition that all people interested in the territory should take an active interest in. It seems to me that now is an opportune time as there has already been a lot of propaganda spread in this state by the Southern Agriculturist and the Courier Journal in the interest of reforestation. It is a fact that the hills back of the river on both sides are fit only to grow timber and wild game on, and a game preserve could be so located over here that it could take in a part of the three counties, Carter, Greenup and Lewis.

It could also take in several miles of the lower Kinney country, a creek that is known for its game fish, such as pike and bass. This creek could be dammed and used to furnish power for all the surrounding country and the dams could be stocked with fish and the state could rent the water power privileges for enough to maintain the entire project. As Mr. Holcomb says, it could be made to include the Carter Caves, and also include a portion of Tygart creek near the caves where there are lime stone cliffs on both sides of the creek that are at least 50 feet high. This would be another ideal place to put in more dams and hydro-electric plants, and could also be stocked with game fish. We will elect representatives this fall to meet in 1924 and in the meantime there should be an organization formed looking to the establishing of this game preserve and reforestation station.

It seems to me that this plan should include Lewis, Greenup, Boyd, Lawrence, Rowan, Fleming and Mason counties in Kentucky. It would also have the cooperative interest of Adams, Scioto and Lawrence counties in Ohio, and Wayne and Cobell counties in West Virginia. We have a year to get ready before the next meeting of the general assembly and with the right effort we can put the game preserve project over.

Turner, former local shoemaker, now living in Cincinnati, against Mabel Turner, Columbus, Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Saturday granted a decree for divorce to the wife, on her cross petition, and the court will pass upon the question of alimony if the parties can not agree upon the amount.

Turner told the court that at the time he married the defendant on July 6, 1920, he believed she was a virtuous woman but declared that soon thereafter he discovered she was associating with other men. She denied his charges and accused Turner of cruelty and neglect, declaring that she contracted a venereal disease from him which led to their separation two months after she married him. She further asserted that Turner refused to buy her any clothing and neglected her for the association of another woman named Stella Porter whose illegitimate child he is the reputed father.

Discusses Resolution Concerning Paving

Considerable comment has been made concerning the resolution adopted by Commissioners W. O. Shively and Jacob Kuhner December 28, requesting state aid for the paving of three miles of the Lucasville-Western highway, from the end of the present paving at the intersection of the Galena pike to near Brown's Mill. It was stated in the article in The Times yesterday that this action was decided upon at a "secret" meeting, but Mr. Shively stated today that President J. H. Appel, known a meeting was to be held, but was absent attending to business elsewhere. It was also explained the state's part of the money was to be taken from the maintenance and repair money, which was due this county, if needed, and that the two commissioners thought it was best to get this money for the risk of work rather than to run the risk of not getting any benefit from it at all.

Mr. Shively stated his position as follows, "The stretch will have to be improved ultimately in a permanent manner, and I thought it best to do it now when we had a chance to get this state money."

Mother Pleads For Some Word From Her 19 Year Old Daughter Who Is Missing

No trace has been found of Victoria Pitts, 19 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pitts, of 1141 Mill street, who has been mysteriously missing since Friday evening, December 29. The parents are greatly alarmed over her continued absence without sending some word to relatives.

The mother is making an urgent appeal for someone to send her some word of her daughter. She realizes that the young woman is of age and cannot be made to return home but she is anxious to know if she is living.

Just some word that she is still among the land of living will be sufficient to put a stop to my worries," she says.

The young woman was of a stout build, over five foot five inches in height and has dark hair. She was sent to a meat market and it was learned later that she made a purchase and started home. She was seen at Gallia and Gay street by Henry Toller, a neighbor who reported to the parents that the girl appeared to be on her way home at that time. Miss Pitts worked with her mother at a local lunch room until several weeks ago when she started to work in a shoe factory. She worked in the factory three weeks. When she left home she was known to have a little over a dollar which would not pay her railroad fare to any distant point. Letters sent to all relatives in this section of Ohio and Kentucky have not resulted in any trace of the girl being found.

Auditor Asks For Ruling On Legality Of City Spending 1924 Taxes This Year

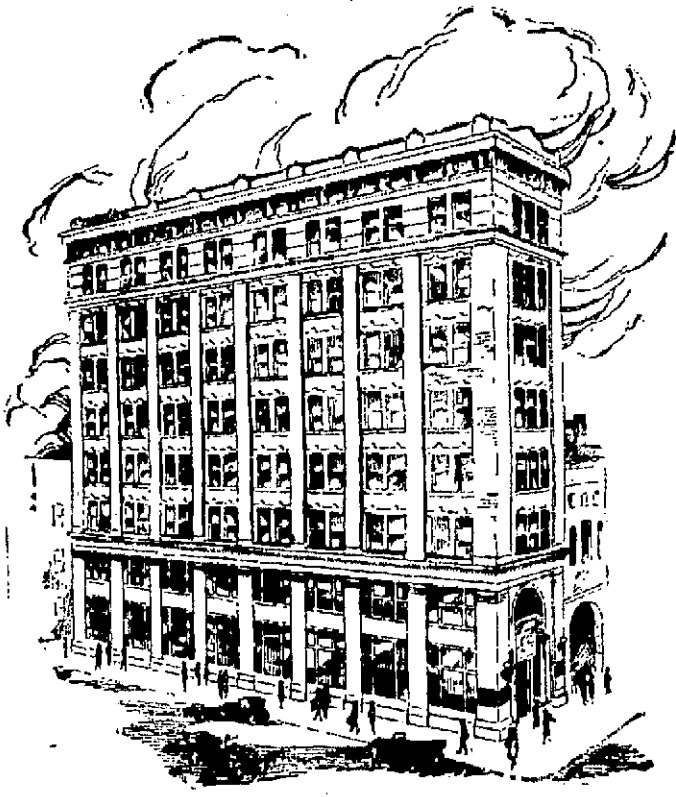

The finance committee of council held a meeting with Mayor Gableman, Auditor Chandler, Solicitor Johnson and Safety Director St. Straus Friday afternoon for the purpose of formulating the semi-annual appropriation ordinance to meet the city's current expenses for the first six months of 1923.

Auditor Chandler during the session raised the question of the legality of the present administration issuing certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the 1924 collection of taxes and has asked the solicitor for a ruling on the issue. The auditor pointed out that at the present time the Safety Department has $25,000 outstanding certificates of indebtedness and the Service Department $15,000 and the Safety Department is asking appropriations in the sum of $43,000 with but $26,000 available. Discussing Municipal affairs Saturday Mayor Gableman declined the claim made in respect to the legality of borrowing money on certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of taxes, saying it was a custom which has been followed since Portsmouth became a city.

The committee, which is composed of Judge Osborn, Miss Emma Cramer and Edward Westphal will hold another meeting next Thursday afternoon to complete its draft of the ordinance. Judge Osborn as chairman has asked Solicitor Johnson for a ruling as to the legality of transferring money from the general fund to the safety and service funds, and if council could legally create a contingent fund.

Latest Things In The Culinary Art Will Be Shown In Times-Sun Free Cooking School

An educational exhibit demonstrating the latest methods in cookery is to be given Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons of next week in Bauman's hall Seventh and Chillicothe streets under the auspices of the Daily Times and Morning Sun. The cooking school being made possible through the cooperation of the two daily newspapers, the readers of which are extended a most cordial invitation to attend.

Opportunities of this nature offered in the past to Portsmouth housewives and young women will in no way compare with these demonstrations which will be in charge of experts. The school is to open each afternoon at two o'clock sharp and it is hoped that more than 500 women will be in attendance at each session.

Similar demonstrations have been held by the young women who will be in charge, in Indiana and West Virginia. At Charleston the attendance each afternoon was over the 700 mark. This is the first Ohio city to be visited and those in charge are anticipating as much success in their schools here as in other states.

Miss Margaret Welmer, who is a graduate of the domestic science department of Columbia University and who is now connected with the educational department of the Washburn-Crosby Company of Minneapolis, will be in charge of the demonstrations. Miss Welmer spent the past summer studying in Europe and has acquired a wealth of knowledge in cookery which she will bring free to the women of Portsmouth and community. She will be able to assist in Miss Elsie Wahlquist in charge of educational work and her assistant, Miss Esther Haugen. They will give talks in connection with the demonstrations. Those attending are invited to ask any questions they choose pertaining to the kitchen and dining room of the home.

A model kitchen is to be set up in the hall with equipment furnished by local merchants. Club women of the city are also called upon to be business each afternoon after the school adjourns and will serve tea.

No definite program has been decided upon but present plans call for demonstrations in preparing salads, Wednesday afternoon, cakes on Thursday and fancy yeast breads on Friday. The exact program of work will be announced in a few days.

The Times and Sun join in extending an urgent invitation to all their fondling readers and their friends to attend these free schools arranged for by the Times and Sun and the Washburn-Crosby Company. Everything will be free.

Pike Co. Election Probe Halted Until Feb. 3; Ballots Certified To Legislature Committee

The taking of depositions in the Pike county election contest cases, which was resumed before Magistrate Ezekiel East of Latham and S. C. Cutler of Pikeport at the Court House in Waverly Saturday morning, was halted after one witness had been called and the hearing was adjourned until February 3.

The one witness called was H. C. Smith, Republican member of the County Election Board, and after he had identified the election records involved in the contests, he was excused and the court then ordered the records certified to the special committee appointed by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, to probe the charges of fraud made by Harry L. Foster of Pikeport, Republican, in the contest initiated by him for the seat of his Democratic opponent, Robert S. Wynn, elected as representative from Pike county on the face of the returns.

In his petition appealing from the action of the County Election Board in declaring Wynn elected, Foster charges irregularities involving the absent voters law and claims other frauds.

The special committee composed of three Republicans and two Democrats, is expected to conduct hearings on the charges next week.

The contestant is represented by Attorney Blair and Blair of this city and Attorney A. H. Johnson of Ironton and Garrett S. Chappell and Walter Bulger, Chillicothe, will appear for Wynn.

ALCO FOUNDRY BURNS AT WELLSTON; NO FIRE BELL TO GIVE THE ALARM

HAMDEN, Jan. 6.—The Alco Foundry was totally destroyed by fire about 6:30 Thursday evening. It was located along the B. & O. tracks, east of the depot, a brick building built about 1880 for a hub and spoke factory and in later years used as a flour mill. It was purchased by Martin Able and Walter Lamsch, two young men of Wellston, about a year ago who started the above foundry, making castings for Fay Egan Co., Cincinnati. Several families had moved here from Cincinnati and the Foundry was just getting a good start. Arrangements were being made to enlarge the plant and have the B. & O. put a switch in. It is understood there was no insurance on the building, but "Forms" were partly covered.

The fire bell that arrived here some few weeks ago to replace the one that was damaged when the City Hall burned had not been installed and the Church bell was sounded for a fire alarm, but ringing at 6:30 it did not attract attention as the citizens were used to hearing the bell about that time in the evening calling the members to church. As a result, the fire was beyond control before sufficient help arrived.

At the conclusion of the performance, "Peepod," at the Columbia, Saturday morning, Manager Tynes called for 100 boy volunteers to take part in the "Dr. Jack" parade. About three hundred responded to the call, for practically every one of the boys present wanted to participate. However, there were but 100 boys, as many spectators and the same number of grips, and consequently but 100 boys could be accommodated.

The parade, formed at the Columbia at two o'clock. Led by the River City band, the "column" passed over the principal streets of the city, carrying all sections and giving "Dr. Jack" a wide advertisement. The boys looked the part of Harold Lloyd in their plug hats and spectacles, and were as happy a gang as ever assembled. They found great pleasure in assisting Manager Tynes, who will reciprocate, allowing every boy free admission to his popular theater next week. All that will be necessary will be the high hat, spectacles and grip. On next Saturday morning a matinee will be given for children and there is no doubt about the Columbia being packed to the guards.

The Dr. Jack parade attracted all sorts of attention, and Manager Tynes is to be congratulated upon his progressiveness.

Engineer Thwarts Bandits
CLEVELAND, O., January 6.—(By the Associated Press)—An attempt by three bandits to rob the offices of the Standard Sewing Machine Company today was frustrated when Edward J. Jones, engineer in the plant's boiler room, literally "mopping up" by crashing a mop and wringer over one gunman's head, putting the trio to flight in a gun battle that lasted for 500 yards through the darkness.

Jones was alone in the boiler room mopping the floor when a gun was stuck in his ribs and he was ordered to throw up his hands.

He answered by swinging around with both mop and wringer, catching the bandit across the head and shoulders, knocking his revolver across the room and grappling with the bandit. After a fist fight Jones grabbed a chair, crashed it across the bandit's head, and while the robber was down grabbed his own pistol from a drawer. The bandit fled. Jones in pursuit firing. Outside a second bandit joined the first robber in flight, firing as he ran. A third bandit joined his two companions in flight, also firing at the pursuing Jones. Five hundred yards from the boiler room the trio jumped into their automobile and escaped.

Jones is suffering from severe internal injuries received in the scuffle. The office safe near the scene of the fight, held several hundred dollars.

CHIROPRACTIC IS ACCURATE

There is only one scientific and exact method of getting at the root of your ailment. That method is Chiropractic. The CAUSE of sickness and disease is nerve pressure occurring at the intervertebral foramina (the opening between the vertebrae where the nerve leaves the cord as shown in cut) and unless this pressure is removed your trouble will persist in one form or another all your life. Spinal subluxations, (partial dislocation of the spinal segments) which are present in every ailing man, woman and child, slightly squeeze the trunk nerves as they leave the spinal cord. This is what is causing YOUR trouble.

Have your case analyzed. Let us show you where spinal nerve pressure causes the pain, ache or weakness you complain of. Chiropractic will positively and permanently remove the cause of your ailment as it has thousands of cases similar to yours. No charge at the office for consultation and Spinal Analysis.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

by Rafael Sabatini

BEGIN HERE TODAY

A Spanish warship, successfully attacks the island of Barbados upon which PETER BLOOD and a number of other Englishmen have become slaves.
COLONEL BISHOP, owner of Blood, is the most tyrannical of the slave owners. Blood and his fellow slaves, through strategy capture the Spanish ship, and Bishop, who hears the vessel to learn the identity of the island's saviors, is compelled to leap overboard and swim to shore.

DON DIEGO, the Spanish commander, is captured. He is given the freedom of the ship upon his promise that he will navigate the vessel during the illness of JEREMY PITT, a young shipmaster.
Don Diego proves false and sails
the ship close to another vessel commanded by his brother.
Blood resorts to strategy to save the ship and crew.

ON WITH STORY

"Nay, my lord," Don Miguel protested with ironic repudiation.
"I can have no knowledge of these things. Already you have told me more than it is good for me to know." But he winked into the twinkling eyes of Captain Blood;
then added matter that at once extinguished that twinkle. "But since Diego cannot come to me, why, I will go across to him."

For a moment Don Esteban's face was a mask of pallid fear. Then Blood was speaking in a lowered, confidential voice that admirably blended gravity, impressiveness, and sly mockery.

"If you please, Don Miguel, but that is the very thing you must not do—the very thing Don Diego does not wish you to do. It was his consideration of himself and the false position in which you would be placed if you had direct word from him of what has happened. He paused a moment. Your excellency understands?"

"His excellency frowned thoughtfully. 'I understand . . . in part,'
said he.
"Captain Blood swept on to afford further confirmation before the Admiral could say another word.
"And we have in the boat below
two chests containing fifty thousand pieces of eight, which we are to deliver to your excellency."

His excellency jumped; there was a sudden stir among his officers.
"They are the ransom extracted
by Don Diego from the Governor of . . ."

"Not another word, in the name of Heaven!" cried the Admiral in alarm. "My brother wishes me to assume charge of this money, to carry it to Spain for him? Well, that is family matter between my brother and myself. But I must not know . . ." He broke off. "Hm!
A class of Malaga in my cabin, if you please," he invited them, "while the chests are being hauled aboard."
They laughed, and drank the commemoration of King James—quite unofficially, but the more fervently on that account. Then Don Esteban, eager on the score of his father-in-law and announced that they must be returning.

As they stepped into the waist of the Cinco Lagas, Hagthorpe advanced to receive them. Blood observed the set, almost seared expression on his face.
"I see that you've found it," he said quietly.
Hagthorpe's eyes looked a question. But his mind glimpsed what he thought it held.
"Don Diego . . ." he was beginning, and then stopped, and looked anxiously at Blood.

Noting the pause and the look,
Esteban bounded forward, his face aid.
"Have you broken faith, you curs?
Has he come to liberty?" he cried—
and the six Spaniards behind him made chorus to his furious questionings.

"We do not break faith," said Hagthorpe firmly, so firmly that he quieted them. And in this case there was not the need. Don Diego died in his bonds before ever you reached the Encarnacion.

Peter Blood said nothing.
"Died?" screamed Esteban. "You killed him, you mean. Of what did he die?"

Hagthorpe looked at the boy. "If I am a judge," he said, "Don Diego died of fear."

Don Esteban struck Hagthorpe
across the face at that, and Hag-thorpe would have struck back, but that Blood got between, whilst his followers seized the lad.

"I was not concerned to insult,"
said Hagthorpe, nursing his cheek.
"It is what happened. Come and look."

"I have seen," said Blood. "He died before I left the Cinco Lagas.
He was hanging dead in his bonds
when I spoke to him before leaving."

Blood's council decided that, going east of Hispaniola, and then sailing along its northern coast, they should make for Tortuga, that haven of the buccanniers, in which lawless port they had at least no fear of recapture to apprehend.

It was now a question whether they should convey the Spaniards thither with them, or turn them off in a boat to make the best of their way to the coast of Hispaniola, which was but ten miles off. This was the course urged by Blood himself.

"There's nothing else to be done," he insisted. "In Tortuga they would be flayed alive."

"Which is less than the swine deserve," growled Wolverstone.

"Oh, laugh! I've no stomach for cold-blooded killing," said Blood. "At daybreak pack the Spaniards into a boat with a keg of water and a sack of dumplings, and let them go to the devil."

Tortuga

Blood to join hands with the buc-canniers who, under a semi-official

a lair whence they could sailly out to drive their merciless piratical trade chiefly at the expense of Spain.

It was Blood's original intention to make his way to France or Holland.
But in the long weeks of waiting for a ship to convey him to one of the other of these countries, his resources dwindled and finally vanished.

M. d'Ogeron, the governor of the island, who levied as his harbor dues
a percentage of one-tenth of all spoils brought into the bay.

Moreover, to a man, those who had escaped with Peter Blood from the Barbados plantations, and who knew not whither to turn, were all resolved upon joining the great brotherhood of the Coast, as those rovers called themselves. And they united theirs to the other voices that were persuading Blood, demanding that he should continue now in the leadership which he had enjoyed since they had left Barbados, and swearing to follow him loyally whithersoever he should lead them.

The resolve being taken, he went actively to work. Ogeron advanced him money for the proper equipment of his ship the Cinco Lagas, which he renamed the Arabella.

To the score of followers he already possessed, he added three score more. With them he entered into the articles usual among the Brethren of the Coast under which each man was to be paid by a share in the prizes captured.

mouth. The morning session will be begin promptly at 10 a. m., with reports of the chairmen in the organized communities, of the work done the past year. They will also outline their plans for the coming year.
The County Agent and Secretary's reports will also be a part of the forenoon session.

It is expected that the report of the committee appointed by the Farm Bureau to work out their method of cooperative buying will be released at the morning session.

Luncheon, at 50 cents per plate

Dairy Feeding Schools
—Lyn McKellip, specialist in dairying, Ohio State University, will be in the county Friday and Saturday January 12th and 13th assisting County Agent W. F. Gahn, in conducting dairy feeding schools at Pond Run in the Ohio Valley community

on Friday and Lucasville Saturday.

The Sedan and Madison communities, both of which have written dairy feeding schools into their program for the coming year, will cooperate with the Lucasville community and meet with them on Saturday.
J. S. Violet and C. L. Spriggs are the leaders in this work at Lucas-ville; C. K. Carter at Sedan; C. S.
Gilliland in the Madison community,
and L. O. Kennedy, Ohio Valley.

The Friday meeting will begin at 1 p. m. and continue through the afternoon and evening. The Saturday meeting will begin at 9 a. m. and continue all day.

Dairymen who attend these meetings are asked to weigh or accurately measure the milk from each cow for one week previous to the meeting, or at least for six milkings. At the last two milkings previous to the meeting a quart sample should be taken from the milk of each cow, these two samples to be thoroughly mixed and a three or four ounce sample taken from this mixture and brought to the meeting where it will be tested for butter fat.

This project is one that practically all the organized communities expect to revive and continue through the months of January and February.
Between 75 and 100 forms were made in the county last spring, and it is expected that at least as many more will be made during the next two months.

Material for the forms may be had at the Brundage Book store within the next week or ten days.

Why One Advertising Appropriation Was Increased

TWO partners were debating their advertising policy — planning the campaign for the next six months. Theirs is a retail store which spent in one year $12,000 on its advertising which was 5 per cent of their yearly volume, a fair expenditure in their line of business.

In growth of sales they could easily point out the home-coming of the $12,000 with a fair and reasonable profit in its train. For these two partners that expenditure was a profitable short-term investment.

One of the partners spoke up:

"John," he said, "we have a cash profit in the bank
from that $12,000, but we have a greater intangible profit by far — it is piled up for us in the minds of every man and woman in the city.

"It is reflected in the attitude of our bankers.

"It is present in the minds of the manufacturers who sell us.

"It is working on the minds and purses of every one of our customers.

"Why," he continued, "this business, because of the advertising we have done, is worth $12,000 more than it was before we began."

The two partners increased their appropriation, modestly, it is true. That was five

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular with the main tendency downward. Selling pressure was particularly effective in the oils, Pan American "A" dropping a point and substantial fractional recessions taking place in Pan American "B", California Petroleum and Royal Dutch. Independent steel shares moved against the downward trend, Bethlehem "B" rising a point and Crucible Gulf States and Republic each advancing half a point. There were a few other strong spots, notably Atlantic Refining, up 3 points and Delaware and Hudson up 1 point, but the general list was inclined to weakness.

Pacific Gas and Electric and U. S. Realty each dropped 1 1/2 points and Allied Chemical, Texas and Pacific and United Drug each yielded a point while substantial fractional recessions took place in Marbe preferred, Baldwin, Southern Railway preferred and American Locomotive. Foreign exchanges opened easier.

Speculators for the decline launched another attack in today's stock market, forcing material recessions in a number of popular industrial shares. Professional interests, who had supported the market yesterday, offered

BLAIR STAGES A GREAT COMEBACK; EARNS DECISION OVER FORMER CANADIAN CHAMPION

Billy Weeks, However, Gave Local Boy Great Battle; Prelims Full Of Action

THE RESULTS
Main Go. Ten Rounds—Referee stopped fight in third round after Jack Titus sent Billy Weeks ex-welterweight champion of Ohio.
Semi-Final, Eight Rounds—Frankie Wells and Andy Parker, draw.
Six Round Preliminary—Jackie Brown of Springfield won decision over Faddy Riley of New Boston.
Six Round Preliminary—Jackie Brown stopped fight in third round after Jack Titus sent Billy Weeks to the mat five times.
Four Round Preliminary—K. O. Cook kayed Sailer Cain of Chillicothe in two rounds.

Fighting an uphill battle and knowing that he is one of the gamiest fighters who ever stepped his hand into a glove, Nig Blair staged a wonderful comeback in the Winter Garden last night and after losing the first two rounds by the proverbial mile he came back and landed a fearful lacing to Billy Weeks of champion of Canada.
Blair was knocked down for a count of eight in the second round and for a short time it looked like the cleaners for the local boy, but Blair's recuperative powers began to work and when Referee Swenson counted nine, he was on his feet, a bit wobbly, 'tis true, but he was fighting just the same. It was a strenuous round for the local boy, but he weathered the storm in good shape and from then on he outgassed, outsmarted and outboxed his heavier opponent. It mattered not to Blair because he was outwitted over 20 pounds. He sailed into Weeks and administered a severe and decisive beating. In the whirlwind eighth round Blair hit him with his man out. If he had kept after him a little longer the trick would have been unmade, but Blair was pretty tired himself and his punches had left him temporarily.

In the first round the two boxers danced and fiddled most of their time away, each man feeling out the other. The second went to Weeks and he almost scored a knockout. The third was fairly even, but from then on Blair had his own way and hit Weeks with everything but the water bucket. A less experienced boxer than Weeks would have taken the count. He absorbed all kinds of punishment, but was not in danger except in the eighth, which seized with action. Blair went after his man for fair and showered blows upon Weeks.

who sagged at the knees on several occasions but stayed off a knockout. In the ninth Blair kept up his good work and Weeks took an awful trouncing. So it was in the tenth, there being nothing to it but Blair. When Referee Swenson held Blair's hand up, indicating that he was the winner the crowd cut loose with one resounding cheer that could have been heard a block. White Weeks was defeated but he was not disgraced. He is a real fighter and mixed up with Blair all the way. There is no question but what Blair would have won the slumberland route if he had trained to any extent. He is being well paid for his local matches and he owes it to the fans as well as himself to be in the best shape when he tackles an opponent. He is a real fighter and will go to the front if he will keep in the condition. His next contract should call for two weeks of solid training or he should not receive a penny.

The prelims last night, bristled action and kept the fans on their toes all the way. In the opening four round stanza K. O. Cook of New Boston knocked out Sailer Cain of Chillicothe in the second round. Cain had a shade the best of the milling when he bumped into a homeless swing and sat down for the count. He was out for fair and had to be assisted to his corner. Both boys mixed it up furiously until the deciding blow came.
In the six round go between Jack Titus of Springfield and B. White of this city, Titus won when the bout was halted in the third round. White made a good showing, but lacks experience.

In the second six round go Faddy Riley of this city was shadowed by Jackie Brown of Springfield. It was a bloody scrap and there was little to choose between the fighters.

In the semi-final of eight rounds Andy Parker, a very shifty and fleet-footed lad from Dayton met Frankie Wells, pride of Chillicothe and one game little lad. He too, had not trained a minute, but he put up a sweet battle and earned a good fight. If Wells will train he can beat this Parker boy and the latter has trained all around Dayton and Cincinnati. Wells is a big drawing card here and of course got a great hand when he stepped into the ring. He fights all the way and the fans like to see him in action.

He is just like Nig Blair in one respect. He will not train for any fight. He was extended to the limit in every round last night, but gave Parker as good as he received.

Sciotoville Boys Win, Girls Lose To New Boston Quintet

New Boston and Sciotoville divided honors last night when a double-header basketball bill was staged in the Glenwood high school gym at New Boston. The Sciotoville boys won 19 to 17, while the New Boston girls walked away from the S. H. S. girls by a score of 21 to 1.

The boys' game was hard fought all the way, first one side being in the lead and then the other. The hard playing resulted in many fouls being called and a number of points were added via this route by each team. The stars were Klinker for Sciotoville and Counts for New Boston. Homer Lewis at center for New Boston and Williams who held down that position for Sciotoville, played well. The snarling was close and field baskets were scarce.

The lineups in the main go:
Sciotoville 19 New Boston 17
Klinker..... R. F. Stratton
Haquard..... L. F. Counts
Williams..... C. Lewis
Waddell..... R. G. Fitch
Clark..... L. G. Bartlett
Sub—Steve Lewis for Counts; Counts for Bartlett.

The girls' game was too one-sided to arouse much interest in the big crowd of fans.

OTWAY TRIMS WINCHESTER TEAM

Otway's high school basketball lads staged a big surprise last night when they took the measure of the Winchester high school five, champions of Adams county in a 24 to 7 game on the Otway floor. The Otway five is not by any means an experienced team and the game they played last night against the seasoned players from Winchester highly gratified their followers.

Next Friday night Otway plays South Webster in the former village. South Webster has to win over Otway to lay claim to the rural high school championship of this county.

Winners in Oxford-Cambridge Race

N. A. McInnis, right, is captain of the Oxford cross-country team and the winner of the annual race between the two schools. For the thirty-eighth time, the race was held over the historic seven and one-half mile course at Rockampton. P. Bryant, left, finished second and C. Merman, third.

P. H. S. VS. IRONTON TONIGHT

Tonight the P. H. S. basketball five accompanied by a loyal crowd of students will journey to Ironton to clash with the I. H. S. basketball lads in the first game away from home this season.
With the locals winning last night in their opening contest over a team that was touted as sure winners they are going to the Nait City's new high school gym with the avowed intention of showing Coach Davies just his quintet just how the court game is played. Coach Harry Wagner will take the big squad to Ironton.

Row Is On Over Sunday Games

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Signs of war were visible early today at the local headquarters of the Giants and Yankees, when the schedule committee of the major leagues met at Atlantic City today. The Giants, in a telegram to President John A. Heydler, of the national league insisted on Sunday dates conflicting with the Yankees and the Yankees wired to President Ben Johnson of the American league urging him to fight to stop such a conflict.

President Charles A. Stoneham of the Giants asserted in his telegram that the 10 million people of the metropolitan district would support two major Sunday games.

When Col. T. L. Huston saw the telegram, he fled one to President Johnson, accusing the Giant ownership of being "mercenary" and of jeopardizing the Sunday game in New York City.

South Webster Boys Win In Walk Over Wheelersburg Five

South Webster high school boys' team over Wheelersburg by last night while the Wheelersburg girls took the measure of the Webster lasses. The boys game ended 53 to 10 in favor of South Webster while the W. H. S. girls won 5 to 3.

The Webster lads never played a better game, the entire team moving about the floor with lightning rapidity while the forwards shot baskets with an accuracy that mystified the visiting guards who could not keep their opponents covered.

Webster simply outclassed the visitors and the only question was after the first few minutes of play was as to how many points Webster would run up on the Porter township quintet. Kallenbach made 23 points on nine field goals while Bundy came through with 16 points on four and field baskets and four points on free throws.

The lineups:
South Webster 53 Wheelersburg 10

Bundy..... C. Lewis

Field goals—Kallenbach 9, Hall 3, Bundy 3, Stroth 4, Nevell 1, Compton 1, Barney 1, Burke 1.

In the girls' game both teams played in hard luck when it came to shooting baskets. Many attempts were made at field baskets but the balls went wide of their mark nearly every time.

There is a thrill in this picture of the famous racer taking a high hurdle. The gracefulness of the leap was not impeded by the top bar which the racer just failed to clear and which is shown still resting against the horse's forelegs.

SHERIFF APPEALS FOR FUNDS TO RUN OFFICE
CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 6.—(United Press)—Sheriff LaVoy Young has appealed to the circuit court of Harrison county following refusal of the county court to grant him the amount he asked to run his office during the year 1923. Judge Raymond Maxwell will pass judgment on the budget.

The sheriff asked for $18,380 with which to employ seven deputies and for extra help in making out tax tickets during the tax collection period. The county court would allow him but $17,400. The court passed on this amount as its last order of business in their last session.

At present, Sheriff Young has six deputies, four of these employed in the office while two look after the criminal work of the county.

The sheriff wants a budget sufficient to take care of one more deputy whose duty it would be to look after the county jail as turnkey and to see to the welfare of the prisoners. This deputy would be on duty all the time at the jail.

During the strike last summer, Sheriff Young was allowed three regular deputies to look after the criminal work; but only a few days ago one of these were taken from the payroll. Sheriff Young contends that two deputies in criminal work is insufficient.

INDECENT HASTE

In its expiring agonies the Davis administration is performing a feat of speed to form.
Suspicion of the sincerity of its motives and the integrity of its actions have accompanied it since its inception and this public uneasiness will not be lessened, but rather increased, by "cooked and dried" repeal of the road and school levies that the legislature perpetrated, this past week.
Never in the history of legislature or congress, has a measure of such great importance, been introduced and strong armed through with such haste and indecent lack of consideration. It is doubtful if even a majority had more than a vague hint of what the bill was to be; certain it is that not so many as a baker's dozen had ever read it. The order from the party bosses was to vote and the poor little puppets voted for they knew not what.
To be sure it will be claimed it was a good measure, and relieved the people from taxes. A good measure hasn't its worthiness increased by being enshrined in the noble bosoms of politicians and perpetrated in attempted dead secrecy. Good does not seek darkness nor practice the ways of the midnight marauder.
They tell us neither roads nor schools are to suffer from this partisan burglary, because the Davis administration has heaped up such a balance in the treasury that their usual demands can be met therefrom.
An excellent defence, if true, but if true why did this same Davis administration only this past year increase the school levy by five points?
What was its design in so heavily increasing a surplus for so short a period?

THE PROMISE FORGOT

PERHAPS, the average citizen read with some glow of pride the wonderful things the American soldiers had done for the German children along the Rhine, on Christmas day.
Instead he should have blushed with shame, because it should have been a reminder of his own folly and the fraudulent title of those who govern us. These attained the popular suffrages by denouncing everything done by the democrats and in nothing were they so fervid as in protestation against the un-American practice of keeping our soldiers on German soil. It was one of the most effective appeals to gather the support of every enemy of his country and sympathizer with Germany.
Well, better than two years have gone by and American troops are still keeping watch on the Rhine.

WHAT THE OTHER DOES

AN item in The Times, just previous to Christmas stated that something like 46,000 letters had been canceled at the local postoffice, in one day.
It is likely that but few, if any, gave thought to what those brief figures meant, what work and what precision they meant. None took measure of the fact that they meant over 100,000 pieces of mail handled by not so many as a half dozen clerks in twenty-four hours and sent on their way to homes in every nook and corner of the land. For there was as much outgoing as incoming matter and the cancellations did not include mailings canceled by hand or parcels post. Nor did the task of the several clerks represent all the labor, by any means, because each letter or package has, on an average to be handled eight separate times before it is finally delivered. First it has to be gathered up, then canceled, carried to a distributing case, assorted according to destination, tied in separate packages, put in sacks and the sacks marked, thrown in trucks, which carry it to the station, where it is loaded on trains and hauled either a long or short distance. Arriving at its destination, through one or more processes, it must be again distributed, then carried to the carrier's case, where it is assorted by streets, sacked and eventually delivered.
So 100,000 mailings mean something like a million operations. Rather astounding, when you think of it, but the more remarkable thing is that not one letter in a million, where the direction is proper, goes astray.
The public is responsible for a hundred times more misarrangements than the postal employees because of carelessness in addressing.

We are a fortunate man, at least we have opportunity, or more accurately speaking, opportunities to make $1.34 a mile every time we start up Betsy Ann. At least that's the way we figure it if figures don't lie. One fellow offers a contraption that would save 65 per cent. in operation, another some sort of a dingus that would save 57 7-12 per cent., another fixin's that mean a saving each from 35 to 17 1-2 per cent. We'd buy 'em all, but we feel our patriotic duty to keep the automobile advertising going—it adds so handsomely to the decoration of the Sunday issue.

The annual promise of the N. and W. to build a new depot here—next year—is slightly over due.

Outward indications are that Seaboard county's most flourishing industry, just at the present writing, is moonshining. And at that it isn't a long distance in the lead of every other county.

New York=Day=By=Day

BY O. O. MCINTIRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—It is a life of acid odors and manners maladroitness. Muffled carousals behind double doors are held at night and many sinister plots of the underworld are hatched there. The habitués are men with falcon eyes and jaws shaved to a steel blue.

It was in this setting that a young girl from a select boarding school recently sought the thrill of adventure. She was escorted there by a chance acquaintance of a dance place.

Smug New Yorkers whose orbit includes the office, corner drug store and neighborhood movie palace scoff at the danger of such places. Yet as a result of this one visit the girl is in a Long Island hospital—fighting the delirium of a drug fevered brain. She is 19.

Her companion explained to her that the cafe was a "front" for Tenth Avenue "snow birds." The jargon was unintelligible to her and so she further explained that waiters carried pockets of cocaine for so much a shot to sell to patrons.

He was himself an addict and thirsting for new thrills. She said she would like to use just a pinch of the drug. It was procured from a waiter and new worlds of unreality were opened to her. The next night she was back and in two weeks disappeared from her school.

Her parents came on from a Southern city and found her in one of the large hotels with an overdrawn bank account and almost every possession she owned in pawn. The descent, as it usually is with youth, was rapid.

Apple-red cheeks became pasty white and the hacking cough of the chronic addict followed. Her supply of drugs cut off, she went into a coma, and as this is written, is in a critical physical condition which will leave her, if she recovers, with a shattered constitution.

This is the kind of a story that New Yorkers will tell you is conceived by the flaming imagination of the fictionist. It is so happens that in this case the story is true. I know the girl and her parents.

In upper Madison Avenue's teeming Ghetto they are mourning for Angelo, the veteran accordion player. He was mowed down by a taxicab while playing in the street for the children to dance. Angelo sold white plaster statues from door to door during the day, but when evening came he quickened childish hearts with free music. The would never take their pennies. It was the joy of seeing them happy.

A great city has many of these odd characters who go to graves unremembered and unnamed. For instance there is "Shut In Dave," a benevolent old man who calls on the "shut-ins." He is a collier who toils all day in a cellar hatch, but of evenings and Sundays he pays his visits. He is able to imitate all sorts of birds and animals and he recites with a strange, throbbing pathos in his voice. On Christmas he sends a cheering card.

SOMEBODY IS ALWAYS TAKIN THE JOY OUT OF LIFE—BY BRIGGS

The Bear Guard in Danger

A negro regiment was stationed in the front line trenches in France during the World War, awaiting the zero hour for their first charge in actual battle. As they were untired troops, the precaution had been taken to station six thousand seasoned white soldiers in the immediate rear as a support.

As the moment approached for them to go over the top, they grew more and more nervous. Finally a little undermanned negro private turned to the buddy at his side, a great giant of a man, and said: "Mose, what you reckon de papers back home goin' ter say 'bout us in de mawnin'?"

And Mose replied: "If de rest of you niggers feels like I does, de headlines is goin' ter read 'bout like dis: 'Six Thousand White Troops Tromped to Death.'"

In the evening the woman properly accepts her escort's support, though she only rests the palm of her hand lightly within his elbow, without linking her arm through his.
